General Theory of Inflammation: Patient Self-Administration of Hydrocortisone Safely Achieves Superior Control of Hydrocortisone-Responding Disorders by Matching Dosage with Symptom Intensity [Corrigendum]

Irwin JB, Baldwin AL, Stenberg VI. J Inflamm Res. 2019;12:161–166.

Page 162, Table 2, Body mass column, second row, the text “150 to 250 kg” should be “68 to 114 kg”.

The authors have advised that there is an error in Table 2, the body mass of row two is shown in pounds rather than kg.

The authors apologize for this error.

The Journal of Inflammation Research is an international, peer-reviewed open-access journal that welcomes laboratory and clinical findings on the molecular basis, cell biology and pharmacology of inflammation including original research, reviews, symposium reports, hypothesis formation and commentaries on: acute/chronic inflammation; mediators of inflammation; cellular processes; molecular mechanisms; pharmacology and novel anti-inflammatory drugs; clinical conditions involving inflammation. The manuscript management system is completely online and includes a very quick and fair peer-review system.
